ROY HARRIS HIRED TO KILL ELWELL

(By International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 9.—Arrangements were being made today to take to New York Roy Harris, the young man who claims that he, with a companion named William Duncan, was hired to kill Jos. B. Elwell, New York sportsman, last June.

"If the police persist in thinking that I am telling a lot of lies, let them keep at it," Harris said this morning. "It will mean my freedom, so why should I worry?"

Detective Sergeant Oswald of New York has not yet been convinced that Harris actually had a hand in the killing of Elwell.

"My notion is that this fellow wants to get into the movies," said Oswald, when pressed for an explanation as to why Harris should make a false confession of murder.

In reply to Oswald's statement Harris again declared he was telling the truth, adding that he wished the confession were true.

Harris is getting nervous. He now paces up and down in his cell and seems to be anxious to be taken to New York.

"If the police will let me see the women in the Elwell case, I can easily identify the one who called herself Mrs. Fairchild. It will be much more positive than trying to identify her by a picture."

One photograph shown to Harris yesterday was picked by him as being that of the woman known as "Mrs. Fairchild," but officials here were advised that when this woman was questioned by the police of New York she proved herself to be absolutely innocent.

COMMITTEE PLANS FACTORY MEETINGS

At the meeting of the "Openings Committee," held last evening at the Central Avenue Methodist church, Miss Adda Burch presided and O. L. Kilborn acted as secretary. It was decided by the committee that managers of factories here and in Burbank be solicited to allow their employees to be addressed by Evangelist John Brown at different times during the meetings. Fred Hoffman and Professor Alfred Cookinian were appointed to look after the Burbank factories and H. H. Frazier those in or adjacent to South Glendale.

SECRET DIRECT FROM AN EXPERT

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 9.—If you want to be an old maid kiss your sweetheart good-night.

This was the cheerful information conveyed to girls of America by Dr. Charles E. Baker, eminent psychologist, in an address here in which he brought forward a solution for the age-old problem, "Sweet Sixteen, Can I Kiss You Good-Night?"

"There is nothing wrong," declared Dr. Baker, "in a young man giving his girl a kiss before he parts with her at night."

"There is nothing wrong in that—but, girls, don't let them do it."

Continuing, the psychologist said:

"More girls have been robbed of future husbands as a result of the good-night kiss than for any other reason. Girls, do you want me to tell you a secret? Well, it's this. After a man kisses a girl he doesn't want her."

SECRETARY RHOADES BUYS RESIDENCE HERE

J. M. Rhoades, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, has identified himself with the city by purchasing the John Bloss property at 459 Hawthorne street. He will take possession in a few days and will build a garage and make other improvements. Already he is an enthusiastic Glendale booster. The purchase was made through the Glendale Realty company.

MRS. BURNHAM IS HOSTESS AT TEA

Mrs. Catherine Burnham was hostess this afternoon at a 4 o'clock tea, entertaining a group of her neighbors in honor of Mrs. E. R. Washburn, of Los Angeles.

Ladies invited to meet Mrs. Washburn are Mmes. Vermilyea, P. E. Cory, Huckins, W. R. Stokes, G. L. Phillipi, and Misses Vermilyea and Ruth McBryde.

"SANTA CLAUS" TO CHORUS GIRLS

(By International News Service)

BOSTON, April 9.—Ensign Joseph Lyman, missing naval assistant paymaster sought by the government for many months in connection with a shortage of $22,000 in the accounts of the scout cruiser Chester, surrendered here today to the department of justice. Lyman dropped out of sight, leaving a wife and two children, after cutting a wide swath in Boston theatrical circles. He was known to chorus girls and taxicab drivers as "Santa Claus."

GLENDALE WAS HIS DELIBERATE CHOICE

This City Pleased the Fancy of J. J. Deakin and He Takes Up Residence Here

When J. J. Deakin and wife left Williston, North Dakota, last fall, in their auto, they headed west but did not have any idea where they would finally bring up. In Seattle they sold the car, then after a little while they came down to San Francisco, where they bought another car and headed south, going down into Mexico, but visiting many California cities on the way. Glendale took their fancy mighty and when they came back this way they stopped here again, declaring it the most delightful city they had ever seen.

Mr. Deakin tried to buy out A. J. Lucas' real estate agency but met with a flat refusal. Then he endeavored to buy a half interest and being again turned down, he said he'd work for Jack on commission. He went away when told there was nothing doing, but came back three days later and coolly announced that he was going to work for the Lucas agency anyhow. He did, and the results showed that the new combination was a hummer. Here are some recent results:

A beautiful lot on Stocker street between Brand and Central, was sold to Frank Hanson, who immediately started back to the old home, Jackson, Michigan, to dispose of his property there so he could do some extensive building here; a lot was sold to Mrs. A. L. Burnett of Los Angeles, on the west side of Brand between Dryden and Stocker, and two houses will be built on it; a four and one-half acre ranch near San Fernando, belonging to J. J. Cameron, to S. F. Lewis of Phoenix, Arizona; L. C. Green's lot on Alexander to Paul Lashbrook of Los Angeles; two lots at the southeast corner of Colorado and Everett, belonging to Mrs. W. L. Davis of West Garfield; six houses will be built on these lots by the new owner. W. F. Tower's residence property at 405 E. Elk, was sold by them also, to a Mr. Smith of Los Angeles.

Mr. Deakin is now a confirmed Glendalean with an abiding faith in the future of this promising young giant of the west. Both he and Jack Lucas are firmly convinced that abounding prosperity in all lines of business is a certainty.

BLACKEST DAY IN ENGLAND'S HISTORY

Efforts to Get the Miners and the Government Together Again Prove Fruitless

By EARLE C. REEVES,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 9.—The blackest day in England's history since Haig issued his famous "back to the wall" message to the half-trapped British army in Flanders opened with both sides in the great industrial crisis absolutely adamant.

Feverish all-night efforts to get the miners and the government together again were completely fruitless, but are continued.

At this cabling there seems to be no chance of peace for only a back-down by one side or the other can avert the general strike of the triple alliance threatened for Tuesday.

The royal family has moved from Windsor castle to Buckingham palace. Windsor lies some 21 miles from London proper on the right bank of the Thames. Buckingham palace is in the heart of the capital. It is a fortress as well as a palace.

Premier Lloyd George is preparing a manifesto to the people of the United Kingdom, which in its gravity and appeal is expected to be no less momentous in British history than was Haig's message to the troops.

The premier is holding up the issuance of this appeal in the hope, it is said, that the executive committee of the triple alliance will return to No 10 Downing street some time before the day is over for a conciliatory conference.

How little chance there is of conciliation, however, was indicated by this statement of a miners' delegate to the International News Service.

"It is vanity on the part of Lloyd George to think we will surrender our main weapon."

The weapon is the miners' refusal to safeguard the mines against flooding. Automatic destruction of the king dom's richest coal fields goes on un-drawn, accompanied by ever-increasing violence.

"TREAT 'EM ROUGH OR THEY'LL GET YOU"

(By International News Service)

EUREKA, Cal., April 9.—"Tell 'em nothing. Let 'em find out all they can and then prove to them they are wrong. You gotta treat 'em rough. If you don't, they'll railroad you." Such is the philosophy of "Wee" Willie Clark, 80-pound, 16-year-old bandit who has a record of seven jail breaks and a long string of burglaries, auto thefts and check passing, regarding officers of the law, who he has led on such a merry chase during his three years of law breaking.

Three Eureka women have made application to the district attorney for permission to have the boy paroled so that they can adopt him.

"BOYS IN BLUE" HAVE PICNIC TODAY

Early this morning the "boys in blue" were seen hastening off by automobile and by street car to Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, to celebrate Appomattox Day, the anniversary of the surrender of the great general Robert E. Lee to the great general U. S. Grant, 56 years ago, an event which marked the close of the war.

Several members of Mary Jane Gillette Tent, Daughters of Veterans, together with their families and well-filled lunch baskets were also in attendance. Pearl Moore, junior vice president, was on the program for readings. Ladies of the Relief Corps were in attendance and served coffee at noon with the basket luncheon spread under the trees.

The G. A. R. Fife and Drama Corps was there with all its usual vim and there was a fine program of speeches after the noon luncheon.

GLEN EYRIE CHAPTER TO ATTEND PARTY

Officers of Glen Eyrie Chapter, O. S. S., have received invitations to a party to be given by the Van Nys chapter next Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Anna P. Barcla, district typist. Officers of the local chapter are anticipating a very pleasant evening.

COSTUME PARTY BY YOUNGER SET

School Chums Entertained by Misses Margaret Fife and Annie Fuelscher

A very jolly "costume party" was given Friday evening by Miss Margaret Fife and Miss Annie Fuelscher at the home of the last named hostess at 237 South Vine street. There was scope for great variety and guests came dressed as colonial dames, brides, tramps, dudes, and in other suggestive garbs.

After all the boys and girls who were bidden had arrived a peanut hunt was organized which ended when the hostesses announced that no peanuts had been hidden. At this stage toothpicks and punch were served, the container of the punch being a garbage can. After this refreshment games were played and then a salad was served which guests ate with soup spoons. Progressive rook next featured the program and was followed by more refreshments, cake accompanied by ice cream to be eaten with forks. Boys and girls present were Mildred Thompson, Josephine Farmham, Hope Ireland, Marion Clark, Phyllis Baker, Martha Eller, Louise Holt, Helen Engle, George Stanley, Stephen Fairchild, Neil McIver, Clair Staley, Vivian Taylor, Harold Majors, Norma Nelson and Paul Edmonds.

LANDIS IMPEACHMENT
CHARGES NOT ENDED

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of Chicago, is not through with his impeachment troubles in the house of representatives. The impeachment charges were left as a legacy to the present house judiciary committee by the committee of the last congress. The Judge was accused by former Representative B. F. Welty of Ohio of improper conduct in accepting the position and pay of professional baseball high commissioner and arbitrator while retaining his position as federal judge. Although Welty is no longer in congress he succeeded in convincing Representatives Boles, Iowa; Husted, New York, and Summers, Texas, of the reasonableness of his charges, and they will push the impeachment proceedings against the judge in the committee.

The premier is holding up the issuance of this appeal in the hope, it is said, that the executive committee of the triple alliance will return to No 10 Downing street some time before the day is over for a conciliatory conference.

How little chance there is of conciliation, however, was indicated by this statement of a miners' delegate to the International News Service.

"It is vanity on the part of Lloyd George to think we will surrender our main weapon."

The weapon is the miners' refusal to safeguard the mines against flooding.

"TREAT 'EM ROUGH OR THEY'LL GET YOU"

(By International News Service)

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 9.—Floating in the Gulf of Mexico about 20 miles from St. Andrews, the free naval balloon, lost 12 days ago, was found this morning by the motorboat Electra, a Bay county fishing vessel commanded by Captain Ecker.

The balloon had no note attached to it and the basket had not been cut away, but swung with the wash of the sea. There was no trace of any of the five men who left the local air station March 22 for an all-night flight. That the men are lost was the opinion officially expressed at the naval station today, when advised by the International News Service that the balloon had been found.

"Well, I'll tell you," said the jeweler. "It has three small pictures of girls, two long blonde hairs, one brown hair, not quite so long, a little talcum powder in the differential, a wee piece of ribbon and the remnant of a powder puff."

The jeweler exhibited the love-ornaments to Bill.

"Looking sheepish and expressing as if he were about to say something," Bill said:

"Gee, I don't know how they got there. I just received the watch from my dad."

STAR AERIALIST DIES
AFTER REHEARSING

CHICAGO, April 9.—Ernest Lane, star aerialist of the "Flying Wards," appearing here with the Sells-Floto circus, is dead today from injuries he received while rehearsing his act.

Lane was doing the "big stunt" of the act, involving a double somersault to a "catch," followed by a triple twist into the net below. He twisted once too often and landed on his head. His skull was fractured.

What's that?"

P. E. O. CHAPTER ORGANIZING TODAY

Fourth Chapter Organized in Glendale Will Have Its Christening

A luncheon and business session highly important to members of the P. E. O. in this city, are being held today (Saturday), at the home of Mrs. A. S. Chase on Riverdale drive, for the purpose of organizing a new chapter in Glendale. As the meetings of this order are held in the homes of members it is deemed best not to tax hostesses by allowing the chapter to exceed the number that can conveniently be entertained. As the three chapters now in existence here have a full enrollment, and a class of ten is to be initiated, it was considered the proper thing to organize a baby chapter which can participate in the convention to be held in Burbank next week. Besides the initiates a number of members will come in by delegates from outside chapters. All the Glendale chapters will be represented and the attendance was expected to reach 110. In the organization ceremonies Mrs. Cramer, state organizer will act as president. Mrs. Fern Roberts as chaplain. Mrs. Pearl Tower as treasurer. Mrs. E. H. Bartlett as guard.

A name will be given the chapter when organized and officers to serve that chapter will be elected.

GUILTY OF MURDER; RECOMMEND MERCY

Judge Hutcheson Sentences Williams to Imprison- ment for Life

(By International News Service)

COVINGTON, Ga., April 9.—John S. Williams, Newton and Jasper county planter, today was found guilty of the murder of Lindsey Peterson, one of 11 farm hands found slain on his plantation. The jury recommended mercy. The jury had been out 18 hours when it was announced a verdict had been reached.

"The jury has found you guilty, Mr. Williams," said Judge Hutcheson, as the planter stood to hear the sentence "and the verdict of the jury is the sentence of the court. I sentence you to life imprisonment."

There was a tense silence as the verdict was read and as the judge pronounced sentence. Williams stood erect, betraying no emotion, if he felt any. His wife, however, after hearing the sentence, clutched her husband around the neck, laid her head on his shoulders and burst into violent weeping. For 15 minutes after the sentence was pronounced she wept and her sobs gradually increased until she was practically hysterical. Her daughters—three of them—joined with their mother in sorrowful weeping.

BIRTH RATE INCREASES DURING HOT SEASON

(By International News Service)

PARIS, April 9.—The weather has more to do with a nation's birth rate than almost any other factor, declares Dr. A. Magelssen, noted Norwegian physician, in a leading article in the current number of Paris Medical.

Anomalous hot weather is certain to increase the birth rate, says Dr. Magelssen, and he presents an interesting number of weather and birth rate charts, collected during a study lasting more than 20 years. Conversely, a mild summer, following a mild winter, brings fewer babies.

Some of the Norwegian doctor's statistics were gathered in France and the United States. He points out that neither New York nor Paris can be taken as criterions because both cities have large foreign populations not yet acclimated and therefore not so directly affected by weather changes.

NAVAL BALLOON HAS BEEN FOUND

REALTY MOVEMENT ON THE EAST SIDE

Fine Future for East Broadway as Business Street
Is Prediction Made

Spencer Robinson says that the movement of property on the east side of Glendale is keeping pace with other parts of the city and that the general public does not realize how fast the vacant tracts are filling up with new residents. The business streets are feeling the same impetus.

Men who are seeking business locations in Glendale are not all able to pay $20,000 for a lot on Brand boulevard and another $10,000 for a building and yet they want a site in this city. They are looking over the east side and Mr. Robinson thinks it has an excellent business future. He cited the case of J. K. Todd who bought and built at 130 South Glendale avenue, just off Broadway.

Among recent sales made by his office Mr. Robinson mentioned the following:

Lot in Piedmont Park tract to J. Scales, who paid $1250 and will soon improve it with a residence.

Lots 23 and 24 of the Wrightland tract at the northwest corner of Adams and Colorado streets, for $2600, soon to be improved with a home.

Lot 22 of the same tract on Colorado to Sophie R. Waters of Los Angeles, who will soon improve with a residence which she will occupy as a home. Consideration $1000.

Lot 20 in the same tract and also on Colorado, to Martin R. Styer and wife of Los Angeles, who will soon build on it.

Lot 19 on Colorado has been sold to Miss Ece Witter for $1000.

A house and lot at the corner of Adams and Lomita owned by Mrs. Elsa W. Sonntag, has been sold to Morris Dassof, of the Glendale Auto Wrecking Company, for $6250. It is a fine home place.

Mr. Robinson says the Childs tract is practically sold out.

Three lots on Elk avenue near Adams have been sold to A. I. Knox, who plans to put two houses on the property. His building operations have already begun.

HARKEN TO THE CALL OF THE ROAD

Springtime in California! What a world of meaning in that brief sentence. It conveys to the mind the fragrance of the blossoms, the orange and the apricot and the peach from the mountain valleys of Southern California, the cherry and the plum from the Vaca Valley and the valleys of the Sacramento and the San Joaquin, the almond and the pear and the peach from the Santa Clara; it carries with it the glory of the California wildflowers as they run like swift messengers with the speed of the wind up the mountain side. It has in it the lure of the iris, the marigold and the lupin and the flame of the California poppy with its golden hues painting the hills in the north and south.

The east has enjoyed the winters of California for their mildness has little in them of the wintry east; but the springtime — no eastern tourist has ever followed that wonderful panorama of color that spreads itself over the California hills with the advent of the spring without making a firm resolve that the east is no longer a place of abode for him; no longer will he rest content in an atmosphere of blizzard and drizzle where the spring scarce recognizes its call and the drought of the summer is on before spring has yet a chance to use the colors of her palette.

And yet in California one can scarcely appreciate the delight of the springtime without the gift of a motor car. Here is the magic carpet of the Arabian nights, all ready to waft the passenger about the fragrant paths of the golden state where blossom and fruit and all of nature's bounties await his call.

March scarcely has passed by on the calendar before the fever of the vacation time takes hold of the motorist. And what an insistent call has the wonderful out of doors! From the beauties of Shasta to the tropical joys of San Diego; from the grand and sublime panorama of Yosemite and the high Sierras to the peaceful surroundings of Carmel and Monterey; over the trail of Robert Louis Stevenson and Frank Norris; out in the Sierra country where the heroes of Bret Harte stirred the imaginations of the days of gold, the days of '49; up in Jack London's peaceful valley of the moon or down in the haunts of Ramona about Camulos and Piru, what a wonderful opportunity for making the best out of life and its playtime!

Whether you essay the joys of the open road for a wider aspect of California history and romance or simply to afford the family an opportunity to share with you the pleasures of the week-end picnic, you know the pleasure of the motor car. It is the Aladdin's lamp that brings to its possessor whatever of delight he may wish for; it is the enchanted ring that calls the giant forces that constitute transportation; it is the magic horse that has annihilated distance and made the world seem small.

So now in this California springtime, harken to the call of the open road; you will find new beauties fresh for your pleasure awaiting you at every turn in the highway; you will find joy on every hilltop and health in every breeze that blows; and as you ride remember the power that has brought down those inaccessible beauties of the distant places to your doorstep; remember the force that flies with you wherever you will; remember that you are living in an era of opportunity and that the key to the beautiful land of delight is the modern motor car.

A few small parks would be a joy and a delight to visitors as well as a great convenience for residents.

NAME OF SMITH HAS RATHER A BIG SIGNIFICANCE, STOP TO CONSIDER IT

The genial personality of some person named Smith can always be depended on to do something every now and then that will either be of interest or benefit to the entire American populace.

It was John Smith, a Virginia gentleman, back in sixteen hundred and something who staged the first romantic wedding in this country. He had become somewhat entangled with a lady who had interested herself in his behalf at the particular moment when the rest of his anatomy was about to be separated from his head. Being one of those chaps willing to try anything once except matrimony, he prevailed upon the lady to marry one of his friends. That wedding is still talked about.

Then Henry Smith, from Champ Clark's state, went to Texas and made himself the first governor of that vast empire, laying the plans for the present unprecedented oil boom, which is causing millionaires to blossom every few minutes.

Gladys Smith, of the golden curls—better known as Mary Pickford—put the picture show business on the map.

Al Smith was elected governor of our most populous state and at one time it looked as though he might be a candidate for President.

Landgrave Smith

The courtesy of a chap named Landgrave Smith was responsible for the beginning of the present great rice industry of this country, amounting approximately to 44,000,000 bushels annually, valued at close to $100,000,000. In 1694 Smith was governor of South Carolina. A sailing vessel enroute from Madagascar to Portugal struck severe hurricanes and was driven into the Charleston harbor.

Governor Smith showed the captain over the town, introduced him to the nice girls, and secured several invitations to fried chicken dinners with mint julep irrigation at the homes of the best families. Treated thusly, the captain naturally desired to do the handsome thing. Accordingly, he presented the governor with a bag of rice, giving minute directions how to plant and cultivate. These instructions were carefully carried out, and from that day to this the American rice industry has been constantly increasing. The major portion of the crop is grown in Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas, but it is raised to a considerable extent, however, in North and South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Missouri and Georgia.

Rice is the chief food of one-third of the world's population. It has been cultivated from time immemorial in tropical and semi-tropical countries.

The rice plant is similar in appearance to wheat, but instead of having a compact ear, it bears a head composed of a number of fine stalks, each of which contains one grain. The grains are covered with a brown husk; when separated from the rest of the plant they are known as "paddy."

Chinese thresh with a hand-made contrivance consisting of two sticks about a foot in length attached to a handle by a piece of rope a foot long. Many Pennsylvania Dutch use this same method today in threshing small crops of wheat.

It is the low cost of rice that has made it the staple article of diet in Asiatic countries. Its use is being increased all over the world due to the fact that people are learning of new ways to prepare it.

INFORMATION FROM THE AUTO CLUB

Rice is generally considered a native of China, probably due to the fact that Emperor Chin-Kong, who ruled 2800 years before Christ, established a ceremonial ordinance which prescribed that the emperor should sow the rice himself, while four other kinds of seed might be sown by princes of the family.

Rice was cultivated centuries ago in India and later in Egypt, after which about the year 1468, its cultivation spread to southern Europe.

Where Rice Is Grown

Asia is the most important rice growing region in the world. The heavy, warm mid-summer rains are highly beneficial to the growing of rice, which is the leading cereal of China, India, Burma, Ceylon, Siam, Java, Japan and Southern Korea. Rice is also grown in Australia, Central America, Mexico, Brazil, Peru, Argentina and other South American countries.

Seeds are generally selected by sifting the "paddy." This is done with a bamboo sieve, which eliminates the small and broken grains.

A seed bed is made in the corner of a field, or wherever it will be most convenient for the hands. The seeds are packed in a straw-matting bag and soaked in cold water for about five days, until they begin to sprout, when they are sown broadcast on the bed with no covering whatever. For the first five or six days the bed is covered with water about one inch in depth day and night. After that it is flooded every morning until the plants are five or six inches in height. After that they are pulled out by the handful and tied in bundles and taken out to the fields to be planted. With the field covered with two inches of water the plants are stuck in the ground to a depth of about an inch and a half in regular rows. The plants take root in about ten days. An iron contrivance not unlike a comb is used in cultivating between the rows. A uniform depth of two inches of water is maintained until the rice begins to head when it is drained off. Early rice is harvested about 100 days after transplanting. The late rice takes about 150 days to mature. Ripeness is determined by the color of the head. It is harvested with old fashioned scythes and placed on the ground for threshing, or if the ground happens to be wet, it is placed on bamboo frames.

Chinese thresh with a hand-made contrivance consisting of two sticks about a foot in length attached to a handle by a piece of rope a foot long. Many Pennsylvania Dutch use this same method today in threshing small crops of wheat.

It is the low cost of rice that has made it the staple article of diet in Asiatic countries. Its use is being increased all over the world due to the fact that people are learning of new ways to prepare it.

Well, her mother wrote the story and put it in an envelope and put a stamp on it and addressed it to the Daily Press and gave it to Leonor's father, Earle Bond, to put in the mail. And what do you suppose her father did? He went and forgot to mail the letter!

But it isn't too late yet to tell about Leonor's party, even if it was last Saturday afternoon. Her mother had decorated the living-room and the dining-room with masses of purple lilacs whose fragrance is like the breath of spring itself.

The 22 little guests who came to do honor to Leonor's eighth birthday anniversary were entertained right royally. Gwendolyn Shattuck danced for them, and so did Edna May Paul; then Edna May recited for the company and Leonor danced for them, too. And then they all played games, and there were very nice prizes for the winners.

After a while Leonor's mother invited them all out to the dining-room. Over the very center of the table there hung a large Colonial doll, dressed in pink and lavender, and the dearest Colonial dolls, little ones, also dressed in pink and lavender were standing at each place, and they were the favors. Then there were dainty little baskets at each place, too, with bon bons that carried out the pink and lavender color scheme of the party.

The birthday cake in the center of the table had Leonor's name on it in lavender icing, and it was bordered with tiny pink roses.

A generous dish of pink and white ice cream was at each place and the Colonial dolls standing there held in their hands dainty place cards that marked places for Gwendolyn Shattuck, Iris Clift, Mary Elizabeth Campbell, Marguerite Bradbury, Edith Kelty, Marguerite Campbell, Doris Stamps, Barbara Stamps, Elinor Russell, Nan Jones, Lillian Flathers, Betty Jean Bradbury, Edna May Paul, Estella Taylor, Katherine, Ethel and Ruth Brown, Junior Kelty, James Flathers, Irving Brown and Gordon Bolser, and the little hostess, Leonor.

There were some big folks at the party, too; they were Mmes. Shattuck, G. F. Manning of Arizona, E. M. Brown and James Manning.

ALL IS READY FOR THE EVANGELIST

John Elwood Brown, the evangelist who will open a series of meetings on April 17 in the big tabernacle just completed at Harvard and Orange streets, is now in an effort at Harvard. When he leaves here, he goes either to San Francisco or Reedley, it is not yet determined which.

Church people and others are looking forward with the greatest of pleasure to the meetings to open next week, for all who heard John Brown when he was here six years ago and the hundreds who have heard him before or since, some in their eastern homes, are very desirous of hearing him again.

MANY TRAFFIC LAW VIOLATIONS

Judge Lowe was a busy man yesterday, as 25 traffic law violations were on his docket. Most of the offenders pleaded guilty and took their medicine, but a few forfeited their bail money and let it go at that.

Dave Gregg, in his callow days in Salt Lake City, was an amateur opera singer.

HOW STAR IN GRAND OPERA WON SUCCESS

Mary Garden's Early Study and Her Dramatic Power Secret of Her Success

It has not been easy to secure tickets to the grand opera because of the immense demand on the part of the music loving public, but Glendale is not easily daunted and has been well represented at all the performances.

Opinion has been divided as to the quality of Mary Garden's voice, some expressing disappointment and declaring she does not sing as well as she did a few years ago. Others insist it is just as beautiful as ever and all agree that in dramatic work her work could not be surpassed. Carmen being a role which she excels in especially.

Along this line of criticism, Spencer Robinson, who has been a professional singer, makes some interesting comments. He declares that the serious attempt to realize the dramatic possibilities of a part, in other words, to really enact a role in addition to singing, is fatal to voice perfection.

The singer, he declares, must have his or her mental and physical powers centered on the voice and the tones desired. Just as soon as dramatic interpretation is attempted, it becomes declamatory and is robbed of its beautiful golden quality.

If Mary Garden has lost in vocal ability it is a sacrifice she has made to her ambitions along dramatic lines, he says, and the sacrifice may not be in vain because her interpretations are so greatly enjoyed. The old singers of Italian opera like Sembrich, carefully guarded their voices and never allowed their emotions to be stirred. Patti, for example, just stood and sang, never moving about the stage to any extent. Tone production in perfection demands concentration inconsistent with dramatic interpretation, he declares, and he says that is the reason why the old style Italian opera singers were so seemingly stolid and unemotional, such "sticks," according to popular criticism, in the manner of acting.

Mr. Robinson knew Mary Garden in Chicago. He says she was a poor girl but had a wonderful voice, and Mr. and Mrs. Mayer wealthy citizens of that city, financed her musical training under Mrs. Fox for three years. She was then about 20 years of age and was sent to Paris, where she had more instruction and speedily won recognition, and engagements in grand opera. Not until she was famous did she return to her native city.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

Everybody enjoys a glee club, particularly College Glee club program, and Glendale is to have the opportunity tonight (Saturday evening), when boys of the California Institute of Technology will give an evening at the First Methodist church of this city, under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class. Lawrence Chandler, son of the real estate operator, is a member of the club which has never before given a concert here to which the general public has been invited, although it has been heard at the high school. The opportunity should not be neglected.

For automobile tourists a wardrobe trunk that can be carried on end securely on a running board, has been patented.

MRS. GLOVER GIVES SECOND LUNCHEON

Mrs. Charles Glover of 416 Myrtle street yesterday gave the second of her series of luncheons at her attractive home. Pink roses and carnations dominated the floral decoration of the living room and the table, at which places were laid for eight: Mrs. G. D. Roach, Mrs. Frank Hester, Mrs. Frank E. Peters, Mrs. Alfred Muhleman, Mrs. Annie Seaman, Mrs. Chas. Willets of Venice, Mrs. Charles Perkins and the hostess, Mrs. Willets will be joined by her husband this afternoon and they will be dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glover this evening. Following the luncheon a pleasant social afternoon was spent by the ladies, who enjoyed Mrs. Glover's hospitality. Mrs. Glover is attending the grand opera matinee Saturday with Mrs. William Berkeley and Mrs. Francis Holst, of Los Angeles.

MRS. PEARL DRESSLER TO BE HONOR GUEST

A meeting of interest to the Westminster Guild of the Glendale Presbyterian church will be held at the home of Miss Phyllis Baker, 331 North Maryland avenue, on Saturday evening. This is the regular meeting of the guild and will be unusual because of the fact that Mrs. Pearl Adams Dressler of India will be the guest of honor. It is expected that the new members will be initiated and the girls are looking forward to an evening of real enjoyment. The date was changed from Friday to Saturday in order that Mrs. Dressler might be present.

250 GLENDALIANS IN SUNSET CANYON CLUB

Mrs. Arthur L. Fryer has been engaged to solicit memberships for the Sunset Canyon Club in the Verdugo hills above Burbank which has been joined by about 250 Glendaleans, with more expecting to come in. The ground is being cleared for cabin sites, playgrounds, etc. As soon as foundations for club buildings are started, which will be within a few days, the membership fee, which is now $60, will be advanced to $120.

MR. AND MRS. COTTON ARE "HI-Y" BOYS HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cotton were hosts Thursday evening to the sophomore Hi-Y boys at Mr. Cotton's studio, 1137 San Rafael avenue.

It was "educational evening on the sophomore Hi-Y calendar, so the excellent talk given by Mr. Cotton on the history and process of etching was appropriate. Mr. Cotton illustrated his talk by making an etching as he talked.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Cotton, served a refreshing punch.

All the "Y" groups are planning ways of raising money for Chinese relief. The sophomore Hi-Y will raise their quota by cooking and serving the supper for the meeting of the leaders of the groups, which is to be held on Monday evening at the home of G. E. Murphy, 421 North Brand boulevard.

LATEST MOVES BY GLENDALE RESIDENTS

Charles Wesson, who a few months ago sold his home at 615 Orange grove and bought that at 418 Vine street, has just sold the latter place after greatly improving it and living in it a few weeks. He is now at 331 Hawthorne. H. L. Dingman, who had been living at 441 West Broadway, bought the place and has moved in. Other moves recorded are as follows: A. W. Johnston from 418 East Elk to Los Angeles, Mrs. S. N. Brown from 1137 East Elk to 412 East Elk, the Reigans from 529 Patterson to Monrovia, Mrs. E. B. Boyd to 243 North Belmont, C. Farrell to 435 Patterson, Raymond Allen to 908 North Louise.

INTERMEDIATE P.T.A. WILL MEET MONDAY

Officers of the Intermediate Parent-Teacher Association are anxious that the general public, especially members of the association, should keep in mind the fact that the next regular meeting will take place at Intermediate Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. De Groot, chief boy scout executive of Southern California, will be the speaker, his theme being, "After School Hours—What?"

MEETS FIRST AND THIRD WEDNESDAYS

The Mother's Reading Circle has changed its time of meeting to the first and third Wednesdays. Sessions are held at the home of Mrs. Hartley Shaw, 212 West Park avenue, on the last mentioned days, from 11 to 2 o'clock. Any mother interested is cordially invited to join. Members bring their lunches and tea is served by the hostess.

There was a good attendance at last Wednesday's meeting. "Points of Contact in Teaching," by Patterson du Bois, was the subject of the day's study.

COOPERATION WAS KEYNOTE OF MEETING

Wholehearted cooperation was the keynote of the meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement Club, held in the schoolhouse, Thursday evening, to whose invitation a number of Glendale residents responded.

Talks on this or kindred subjects were made by a number of Glendale visitors as well as La Crescenta members of the association. Among the Glendale speakers were C. C. Cooper, Owen C. Emery, L. T. Rowley, F. A. Marek and Secretary Rhoades of the chamber of commerce, H. S. Bissett, H. N. Fowler, F. K. Czerniski, president of the La Crescenta Improvement Association, and C. E. Culbertson, secretary, were among the La Crescenta speakers.

MR. AND MRS. KELLEY HOSTS TO "Y" BOYS

Mr. and Mrs. Rex C. Kelley entertained Mr. Boyd's group of "Y" boys Thursday evening, at their home, 1109 North Louise street.

Preceding the social session, the boys met at the Doran street school for their lesson and a short business session. Games, music and merry conversation were the diversions of the evening, at the close of which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

AUTO THIEVES PROVE FASTIDIOUS PARTIES

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 9.—Chicago automobile thieves like fine cars, but in a pinch they will take what they can get until they can acquire a better one.

P. J. Murray, an automobile salesman, misses his machine and found a note saying:

"Have borrowed your car for a little while."

A few nights later he saw his car standing at the curb. This time he found another note, which read:

"Much obliged—we have a better car now."

"Aet," used principally on old gravestones, means "aged."

Without a Motor Car

A Sylvan Retreat Along the Way.

If you are one of the many newcomers in Glendale you may not know that you can take one of the most beautiful scenic rides in Southern California without a motor car.

You may not know that for a single street car fare you can ride through one of the most charming valleys to be found anywhere, past pretty mountain cottages and more pretentious country estates with views of mountain vistas, wooded dells and canyon streams unsurpassed.

The Glendale & Montrose railway traverses such a section, taking a course through the mountain pass known as beautiful Verdugo Canyon and passing near the old adobe that was the original ranch house on the Verdugo estate in the days of the Dons.

The road emerges from the canyon at Montrose where new views may be seen and then on to La Crescenta where from the heights you look upon scenes of unsurpassed beauty.

MANAGEMENT IN LIMELIGHT

Neither capital nor labor will play the star part in the industrial reconstruction now under way. Investors and associations of employers and associations of workmen will be cast in minor roles. Management will be in the limelight, will be the industrial co-ordinator. The industrial engineer, who forms the point of contact between labor and capital, will have the stellar honors.

In all the negotiations between labor and capital there are certain basic obligations to the public which labor and capital are too often likely to forget. Industry, if it is to justify itself, must render service not only to the investor, nor only to the worker, but to the consumer. It must strike off the shackles of unnecessary costs due to idle buildings, idle machines, idle men, idle capital. Service, at a profit, must be the new order of things.

Bankers, and other financiers who are part or quasi-owners of so many enterprises, should be brought to a realization that greater security for investments will follow wider adoption of industrial conservation.

From the standpoint of strict personal advantage it may seem to the banker wise to approve loans to enterprises as large as are consistent with entire safety; but as a matter of industrial ethics it is questionable whether the interest paid on funds not actually in use in business does not represent an economic waste in just the same way as idle workers represent waste. In either case the fault lies on the shoulders of insufficient supervision, and all supervision unquestionably is a function of the industrial engineer.

Management, counseled by industrial engineers, must study industrial fallacies, analyze industrial wastes, determine responsibility for losses and inhibitions which restrict output, and then develop ways and means whereby capital and labor will do all in their power to bring about stability.

Although I realize fully that costly errors have been made and are being made by both labor and capital, I submit that the avoidable wastes, due to ill-directed and untrained management, are far costlier. Not only can these wastes be considered in terms of dollars and cents but they can be calculated in terms of human energy, which has potential possibilities far beyond any sordid consideration. Through efficient management we must uncover and minimize waste. We must insist that labor bear the burden due to its faults, and that capital bear the burden due to it. Only thus can we hope for that fuller understanding which must be in the end the foundation stone of righteous industrial peace and stability.

GERMANY'S HARM TO FRANCE

When we are disposed to grow sentimental over the treatment of Germany by the Allies, in the matter of reparation, it would be well to stop and consider the extent of Germany's damage to France and to the whole world. Germany suffered far less than Belgium, France and perhaps even than England. It was the German aim to so crush France that it could never again interfere with Germany's plans for the future. That was declared before the war by the famous, notorious, General Barnhardi. How far she succeeded in this aim may be judged by a speech of Lloyd George recently made in London from which the New York Tribune gathers the following items concerning Germany's work of desolation in France.

Houses destroyed	319,269
Houses partly destroyed	313,675
Factories destroyed (metallurgical, electrical, mechanical)	21,000
Textile factories destroyed	4,000
Alimentary factories destroyed or stripped	4,000
Townships destroyed	1,659
Townships three-fourths destroyed	707
Townships half destroyed	1,658
Railways destroyed, kilometers	8,000
Bridges destroyed	5,000
Highways destroyed, kilometers	52,000
Land devastated (about one-half cultivated), acres	9,386,000
Mines in northern France, years required to repair	10
Reduced production of these mines annually, tons	21,000,000

We do not know, no one knows, whether Germany is able to make reparation for such huge and criminal destruction but she can repay much of it and there can be no doubt that it will be right to make her do so. The sentiment of the civilized world should not be allowed to degenerate into the sentimentality that will allow Germany to escape without feeling the enormity and viciousness of her sin. Such a turn of affairs would put a staggering burden on France and Germany's satanic dream would be realized.

WHAT HE WOULD DO

(By International News Service)
 LONDON, April 9.—In a letter to Judge Henry Neil, of Chicago, Bernard Shaw expresses himself as follows:

"I have said that if I were a woman I should refuse to beat a child for less than $10,000, and that a nation that will not guarantee the proper nurture of its children does not deserve to have them."

"I have also said that we should not sterilize the excellent old Betsy Trotwood, who would have children and bring them up well if they had not to pay the price of having a man thrust upon them as well."

"I do not forget that a house without a man in it is not an ideal home for a growing boy or girl; but as the average house is a house without a man in it (he being at work all day), the school or other social agencies could do almost as much as the father now has any chance of doing."

"The woman risks her life, and that is quite as much as she can be reasonably expected to undertake even with a full guarantee that she shall not have it crying to her in vain for food whilst Pekingese dogs are eating cutlets in the next street."

THE GODS ARE KIND

I asked for Fame. Down from Olympus' height
 Came laughter at my egotistic plea.
 I grasped with longing hand Love's radiant light
 Only to have it vanish mockingly.
 Weary, disheartened, battered from the fight,
 My golden dreams ebbed one by one
 from me—
 But now I know whatever is, is right.
 The gods were kind. They gave me
 Memory.

WHY HE LOST HIS FRIENDS

He was not loyal to them.
 He was suspicious of everybody.
 He borrowed money from them.
 He measured them by their ability to advance him.
 He did not know the value of thoughtlessness in little things.
 He seemed to forget that he who uses his friends loses them.
 He was always jealous of those who were more prosperous than himself.
 He never thought it worth while to spend time in keeping up his friendships.
 He never learned that implicit, generous trust is the very foundation stone of friendship.
 He never threw the doors of his heart wide open to people, or took them into his confidence.
 He regarded friendship as a luxury to be enjoyed, instead of an opportunity for service.
 He was always wounding their feelings, making sarcastic or funny remarks at their expense.
 He did not realize that friendship will not thrive on sentiment alone, that there must be service to nourish it.
 He was always ready to receive assistance from them, but always too busy or too stingy to assist them in their time of need.
 He used his friends in all sorts of ways and for his own ends, and never hesitated to sacrifice their reputation for his own advantage.

CHANGES IN FIRE DISTRICTS OF CITY*LIFE OF INNER TUBE IS HARD TO DECIDE

In accordance with the instructions of the Board of City Trustees, City Manager Watson submitted at the regular meeting Thursday evening a proposed revision of Glendale's fire districts in anticipation of a new fire district ordinance. The districts as set forth by Mr. Watson are:

Fire District No. 1.—Includes all lots and parcels of land fronting on Brand boulevard between California street and Maple street, on Broadway between Central avenue and Everett street, on Glendale avenue between Harvard street and Wilson avenue, on west side of Maryland avenue between Harvard street and Wilson avenue, on Central avenue between Colorado street and Broadway, on Colorado street between Central avenue and Glendale avenue, on east side of Orange street between Colorado street and Wilson avenue. This shall include the entire area of all such lots and parcels of ground, provided, however, that the boundaries of said Fire District No. 1 shall not in any case extend a distance greater than 150 feet from the boundary lines of any of the aforementioned streets.

Fire District No. 2.—Shall include all lots and parcels of land to a depth of 100 feet fronting on Brand boulevard between Acacia street and Palmer avenue.

Fire District No. 3.—Shall include all lots and parcels of land to a depth of 50 feet fronting on Brand boulevard between Cypress street and San Fernando road.

Fire District No. 4.—Shall include all lots and parcels of land fronting on San Fernando road between Eulalia street and Los Feliz road and on the west side of Central avenue between Eulalia street and Los Feliz road. This shall include the full depth of all such lots.

Fire District No. 5.—Shall include the front 20 feet of all lots and lands fronting on Brand boulevard between San Fernando road and the north city limits excepting therefrom all lots and lands included within Fire Districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3 as provided in this ordinance or as the same may be amended hereafter.

Fire District No. 6.—Shall include the front 20 feet of all lots and parcels of land fronting on Broadway within the city limits of Glendale excepting therefrom all lots and lands included within Fire District No. 1 as provided for in this ordinance or as the same may be amended hereafter.

Fire District No. 7.—Shall include the front 20 feet of all lots and parcels of land fronting on Colorado street within the city limits of Glendale excepting therefrom all lots and parcels of land included within Fire District No. 1 as provided for in this ordinance or as the same may be amended hereafter.

Fire District No. 8.—Shall include the front 20 feet of all lots and parcels of land fronting on San Fernando road within the city limits of Glendale excepting therefrom such lots and parcels of land as are included in Fire District No. 4 as set forth in this ordinance or as the same may be hereafter amended, provided that no portion of the Southern Pacific Railway company's right of way shall be included therein.

Fire District No. 9.—Shall include the front 20 feet of all lots and parcels of land fronting on Glendale avenue between Colorado street and Lexington drive, excepting therefrom all lots and parcels of land that are included in Fire District No. 1 as provided for in this ordinance or as the same may be hereafter amended.

Fire District No. 10.—Shall include all lots and parcels of land to a depth of 20 feet fronting on Los Feliz road between Brand boulevard and the Southern Pacific tracks, excepting therefrom all lots and parcels of land included in Fire Districts Nos. 3 and 4 as provided for in this ordinance or as the same may be hereafter amended.

Fire District No. 11.—Shall include the front 20 feet of all lots fronting on Pacific avenue between San Fernando road and Broadway.

Fire District No. 12.—Shall include the front 20 feet of all lots fronting on the east side of Maryland avenue between Harvard street and Wilson avenue.

After considering the districts as recommended by Mr. Watson the Board amended Fire District No. 1 as outlined so that the fire district on Central avenue between Colorado and Broadway would cover the front 50 feet only, and the same amendment was made with regard to Glendale avenue from Colorado to within 300 feet of Broadway.

A map showing the fire districts as outlined will be hung in the Chamber of Commerce headquarters that business men and property owners may have opportunity to study it.

INSPIRATION

Yours is the hand
That kindles first the fire;
Yours are the eyes
That see the vision true;
Yours are the thoughts
That all my words inspire,
With the clear light
Of your mind shining through.

My deeds crouch
In a corner, meager, few,
That should be mighty,
Yea, and sit in state.
For mine the sorrow is
That all I do
Seems so little,
That should be so great.

—Anna Bird Stewart.

OBREGON PLANS TO STOP GAMBLING

(By International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, April 9.—Gambling throughout the Republic will be stopped if a bill introduced in Congress at the instance of President Obregon becomes a law. The president has asked that the constitution be amended so as to give him ample powers to prevent and suppress gambling of all kinds.

EXPLORED BY AUTO TRAVELERS

"How am I to know when an inner tube is 'done'?" is a question I am asked repeatedly," declared H. M. Butts of the Monarch Supply company.

"It is the natural inquiry of a tire user who has had several repairs made on his tubes and wishes to obtain the utmost mileage from them, yet wants to avoid the inconvenience of making a tire change on the road, due to tire trouble."

"In these times when economy is the order of the day, a tire user holding an old tube in his hand, can well afford to ponder a minute before casting it aside as 'through.'

"It is difficult sometimes to determine just when a tube is unfit for further use. However, porosity in a tube usually indicates that it has attained its three score and ten. In this stage of use, very small cracks can be observed in the rubber if it is stretched and examined carefully.

The next development is splitting, when the air pressure becomes too great for the tube to bear.

"If the rubber in the tube is 'live' it may successfully bear as many patches as a beggar's coat. But due care must be exercised in the vulcanization of the patch to the tube, that too large a portion of the tube around the patch is not cured.

"I believe that the lack of proper care of the tube is responsible for most of the trouble tire users experience. The observance of a few precautions would help wonderfully to eliminate these troubles."

"The absence of sufficient胎 between casing and tube, allows the generation of heat, which vulcanizes the tube to the fabric of the casing. Then if you attempt to remove it, it tears."

"Much tube splitting is occasioned by the slipping of the tube between the casing and the rim, which soon results in a 'pinch.' The remedy is careful applying."

"The protection of spare tubes is a matter that many tire users pass over too lightly. Usually spare tubes are carried loosely in the tool box where they come in contact with grease, oil and tools."

"The grease and oil greatly reduce the quality of the rubber, while the tools many times chafe the tubes and render them unfit for further use."

"It seems to me that the whole problem of obtaining the greatest tube mileage resolves itself into the simple matter of exercising proper care."

HOLD-UP PRODUCES ONLY DOLLAR WATCH

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 9.—Folks who live in the Wilson avenue section of Chicago have been wont to think that district had a little something "on" the rest of Father Dearborn's village in pure "class." The judgment of the burgling fraternity is different.

Frank Harrison, Frank Wall, Roy Brisbeis, Charles Schlagel, Irwin Leidner and Charles Peters were arrested, charged with being bandits. In one of Peter's pockets detectives found a dollar watch.

"Where did you get it?" the police asked.

"Off'n one o' them Wilson avenue swells—they never have nothin'. Just a big front."

"That's the dope," chorused his pals. "Stick 'em up and all you get is a laundry check and a dollar watch."

AUTO TIPS

Soft water should always be used in the cooling system.

Chewing gum may sometimes be used in an emergency to cover a leak.

Expert attention should be given to the adjustment of the carburetor to avoid too rich a mixture.

When you are able to move the fan blades too freely, it indicates that they are too loose.

The best way to clean the muffler is to disassemble it and clean the parts separately.

A pungent odor, accompanied with black smoke from the exhaust, denotes a rich mixture. To correct this adjust the amount of gasoline or air.

To test loss of compression, crank the engine by hand and note the resistance of each cylinder. If one cylinder has less resistance than the others, it should be corrected at once.

To avoid trouble with electric wires, it is well to enclose them at the points where they are held to the frames with rubber tubing. The tubing may be slit to admit the wire and then may be clamped to the frame.

In gravity and vacuum feed gasoline systems there is a vent in the tank around the filler cap which is likely to cause engine trouble if not inspected occasionally and a wire run through it to make sure that it is open.

Loss of power is not the only trouble caused by leaking valves. The hot flame that escapes past the valves distorts the valve stem, softens the valve springs, corrodes stem bearing and forms a sediment that prevents free action.

When placing a touring car in "dead storage" the top should be extended with just enough tension to bring it up taut. The curtains should be hung in place and allowed to drop full length, so that the creases in the material and the rolls in the celluloid may naturally straighten out.

A PROMISE UNFULFILLED

O. Henry, the well-known story writer, once promised the editor of a magazine that he would deliver a short story to him on the following Monday. Several Mondays passed, but the Muse was refractory and the story was not forthcoming. At last the wrathful editor wrote this note:

"My Dear O. Henry—if I do not receive that story from you by 12 o'clock today, I am going to put on my heaviest-soled shoes, come down to your house, and kick you down stairs. I always keep my promises."

Whereupon O. Henry sat down and wrote this characteristic reply:

"Dear Sir—I, too, would keep my promises if I could fulfill them with my feet."

AUTO NOTES*WHISTLE FOR THE MONEY

As he weighed out the sugar the grocer's boy whistled lustily.

Don't you know that it is very rude to whistle while you are waiting on a lady," said the elderly customer, severely.

"Well, the guy-nor told me to do it when I served you," explained the customer, in great surprise.

"Yes'm! He said if ever we sold you anything we'd have to whistle for the money."—Toledo Blade.

Every rural preacher should have a car! This is the subject of an editorial that appeared in a recent issue of a prominent religious publication. It said: "The minister's efficiency is doubled, trebled and even quadrupled by the use of the four-wheeled chariot of the apocalypse. Desert places are beginning to rejoice and the wilderness is becoming glad by the herald of many an automobile party."

Motoring is constantly getting safer.

There were only half as many deaths per car in 1919 as there were in 1914, the percentages being .0025 in 1914 and .0013 in 1919. Figures from Detroit and New York for 1920 show that in the former city there was one less death in 1920, and in New York the toll was 21 less than the 1919 mark.

Guest—"Say, I've waited half an hour for you."

Jolly Waiter—"Well, it is certainly surprising how time flies."

Shifting into intermediate speed before crossing railroad tracks is a mighty good habit to form. The reduced speed makes a quick stop possible, when necessary, while acceleration is much quicker in second should the motorist find himself on the tracks before noticing an approaching locomotive. Safety First!

Battered and literally cut to ribbons. Thus might be described millions of auto tires now in service. A big majority of these will be replaced early this spring. Thousands of car owners have had tires laid aside for future delivery, according to reports from tire dealers. When everyone starts buying new tires a shortage of standard makes is expected this spring on account of production having been about one-fifth of normal during last summer.

PETITION

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles.

In re Application by the Glendale Publishing and Printing Company, a corporation, hereby petitions that the Glendale Press as to its Daily Edition be declared and adjudged a newspaper of general circulation.

The petitioner, Glendale Publishing and Printing Company, a corporation, hereby petitions that the Glendale Press as to its daily edition be declared and adjudged a newspaper of general circulation and in that behalf alleges:

I.

That the Glendale Publishing and Printing Company is a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of California and has its principal place of business at the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California.

II.

That the Glendale Press was printed and published at regular weekly intervals and for more than one year prior to March 1, 1921, in the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, by J. W. Usilton and J. H. Folz.

That the said petitioner, that on March 1, 1921, the said petitioner as the successor in interest of the said J. W. Usilton and J. H. Folz of the said Glendale Press and the Glendale Press plant and equipment began to print and publish and even since has continued to print and publish at regular daily intervals, except Sundays, the said Glendale Press as "Glendale Daily Press (Daily Edition of the Glendale Press)," at the said City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles.

That the said petitioner, that said Glendale Press, daily edition, is a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published as aforesaid, for the dissemination of local and regional news and intelligence of a general character, and has a bona fide subscription list of paying subscribers to whom said newspaper is delivered daily as printed and published and for which each and every subscriber pays the said petitioner at the regular subscription rates.

III.

That the Glendale Press was printed and published as a newspaper by said J. W. Usilton and J. H. Folz continuously and at regular weekly intervals, except Sundays, for more than one year prior to March 1, 1921, and was on, except March 1, 1921, and daily thereafter, except Sundays, to the present time, has been printed and published and continues to be printed and published at regular daily intervals as a newspaper of local and telegraphic news and intelligence of a general character.

IV.

That the Glendale Press was printed and published at regular weekly and regular daily intervals, as aforesaid, and for all the times mentioned in this petition and now has a bona fide subscription list of paying subscribers at the regular subscription rates.

V.

That said Glendale Press was at all of said times a newspaper of general circulation and published for the purpose and at the place as aforesaid.

VI.

That said Glendale Press has not been during any of the times mentioned in this petition and is not now devoted to the interests or published for the entertainment or instruction of any particular class, profession, trade, calling, or denominations, or for any number of such classes, professions, trades, callings, races or denominations nor has the avowed purpose of said newspaper ever been, nor is it now the avowed purpose of said newspaper to entertain or instruct such classes or any of such classes.

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays that the Honorable Court ascertain and adjudge that said Glendale Press is a daily newspaper of general circulation within the meaning and requirements of Section 4460 of the Political Code of the State of California, and as such is entitled to accept contracts for and do official advertising and publishing wherever the same is required by any law of the State of California; and for such other and further relief as may be meet and proper in the premises.

IS NECESSARY FOR HEALTH

Protein, carbohydrate, mineral matter, and even the calorie now have a real meaning for many housewives, and they are planning meals for their families with these food requirements in mind. But scientists studying human nutrition tell us that we have other dietary factors to reckon with—the vitamins.

At a recent meeting of the New York State Medical Society in New York city, many of the foremost authorities on nutrition spent a morning talking about vitamins. It was agreed that they are of great importance in the diet of every individual because they are necessary for growth in children and for the maintenance of health in grown people. This means that vitamins are of real interest to the housekeeper, and that it is indeed worth her while to learn something of these substances, which even the scientists have never seen and do not fully understand, but of which popular literature and advertisements are beginning to speak familiarly.

Just what should the housewife know about vitamins? At present we know they are three in number. For lack of a better name, the scientists distinguish between the three by their solubility. One of them is soluble in fat, and has been named fat-soluble A. The other two are soluble in water and are known as water-soluble B and C. Not all foods contain all three, and some foods contain none. We must have vitamins not only to make children and young animals grow, but because an adequate supply causes the development of certain diseases in both children and adults.

Dick H. Gideon Wells, who during the war served under the Red Cross in Roumania, found large numbers of children there suffering from an inflammation of the eyes, in some cases so severe as to cause blindness. Their diet consisted almost entirely of a thin bran-vegetable soup. Milk and butter were not to be had. These little children were not getting enough of the fat-soluble vitamins. Dr. Wells heard that a ship had arrived with a cargo of cod-liver oil. Because he was able to secure the oil, which is rich in the fat-soluble vitamin, the lives and sight of a great many children were saved. A lack of this vitamin also lessens the power of resistance to disease, such as tuberculosis, and is now regarded by some authorities as one of the possible causes of rickets.

A disease of the nerves known as beriberi, common in the Philippines and other parts of the Orient, is caused by an insufficient amount of water-soluble C and quickly cured by the addition to the diet of foods containing this vitamin. Water-soluble C is also called the antiscorbutic vitamin because it prevents and cures scurvy. The disease is especially common in babies, as milk contains very little water-soluble C, and this small amount is almost completely destroyed by Pasteurizing and boiling and in dried and evaporated milk.

UNIVERSITY GIVES 207 LOANS TO PUPILS

(By International News Service)
MADISON, Wis., April 9.—To aid needy students in earning their way through college, 207 loans, totalling $11,141, were made last year by the recipients of the University of Wisconsin from loan funds at their disposal. The loans averaged $53 a person and many were just in time to save students from giving up their college course because of financial difficulties. Lack of funds prevented loans to many other needy students.

The university has 29 loan funds for this purpose, many of them for self-supporting students. Fifteen of them, totalling $15,000, may be loaned out entirely and then reloaned as the money is repaid by the recipients. Five of the loans, totalling $20,451, are trust loans whose income only may be loaned out. One of these, the John A. Johnson fund, produced last year an income of $885 for student loans.

Because of the increasing number of needy and worthy students who apply for small loans to aid in earning their way, the loan funds are at present far from adequate, and further funds are being sought from alumni and friends of the university to endow new funds to add to the principal of existing funds.

MRS. FRAM AND DAUGHTER GO EAST

Mrs. Emil Fram of 348 West Windsor road, has gone east to Winnetka, a suburb of Chicago which was her former home. She is accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. R. H. Doose, who has disposed of a home in Winnetka and is winding up her affairs there so she can return to Glendale to live. She and Mr. Doose have bought a lot at 615 Milford which has already been improved with a garage, and on which they will soon begin the erection of a dwelling. While away, Mrs. Fram and her daughter will visit friends in Rock Island, Illinois, and relatives in Iowa. They will also take in all of the more scenic points enroute for California, including Pike's Peak, the Royal Gorge and the Garden of the Gods.

'OLDEST FAMILY' CONTEST IN PARIS

(By International News Service)
PARIS. April 9.—The "oldest family in town" contest was opened by a Paris paper recently with astonishing results. Rene de Heron de Villefosse, seventeen years old, dug into the family records and discovered that the first de Villefosse moved to Paris in 1478 and that the family has lived here ever since. Then along came Henry Cochin with a family album showing that his great-great-etc. granddaddy was a member of the municipal council in 1292.

CO-EDS CANNOT GET BREAKFAST IN BED

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 9.—Students of Northwestern University have their own ideas about blue laws. A recent edition of the Daily Northwestern chronicles the organization of a "Northwestern University chapter of the W. C. T. U." Here are some of the rules the new organization will advocate:

Sunday dinners will have to be dispensed with, the announcement reads. They must be eaten on Saturday or Monday. No more beans on Sunday. No more breakfasts in bed for the co-eds. No more Sunday afternoon dates. No more Sunday spooning. The wind will not be allowed to blow on Sunday. The sun must rise at 9 a. m. and set at 5 p. m.

The students also say the huge sign which hangs in front of the national headquarters of the W. C. T. U. in Evanston must not by any means be stolen on Sunday. It has been removed three times in the last year and the last time was found dangling from the tower of one of the buildings.

WOMEN SHOULD HAVE THEIR BEAUTY SLEEP

(By International News Service)

HAMMOND, Ind., April 9.—The women of Hammond must have their beauty sleep.

And because the city council realizes this, Hammond will be the only town in the Calumet district that will not observe daylight saving time this summer.

Representatives of important industries urged the council not to rescind the daylight saving ordinance under which the city has operated for years. The women wanted the ordinance rescinded.

It may be important to save one hour or two for business," the spokesman of the women told the city fathers, "but it is more important that the women have their natural sleep in the morning. We want ours."

After such an argument there was only one thing for the aldermen to do and they did it. Hammond's daylight saving ordinance is defunct.

OPTOMETRY MEET TO BE HELD IN JUNE

First hand information regarding the effects of the hardships of the war upon the vision of Europe will be explained by noted optometrists of England and the continent at the annual convention of the American Optometric Association at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York, from June 26 to July 1.

Changes in state and federal laws affecting optometry and new legislation designed to keep up the high standard of the profession will form part of the drastic legislative program of the convention. In line with this legislative schedule a cooperative scheme for the delegates from each state will be outlined to present to congress at the menace to the public at large of certain measures affecting optometry.

WHY DOES A CHICKEN CROSS THE STREET?

(By International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 9.—Thirty chickens crossed the road in this city, but never reached the other side.

They all fell victims to the lure of a passing motor car. All 30 were buried at the city's expense.

This was certified in the annual report of Dr. L. B. Gloyne, health officer, who supervised the burials.

MRS. LOCKWOOD WAS HOSTESS THURSDAY

Mrs. Homer Lockwood, 325 West Lomita avenue, was hostess Thursday afternoon, to the drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, at their regular meeting.

"The Doll's House" was discussed at some length, a resume of the life of the author, Henrik Ibsen, was given and "Happy Endings," by Clarendon Ross was read: this article argued that the ending of "The Doll's House," often deplored by those who demand a happy ending for a story whether it be logical or not, was the only logically correct one.

Mrs. R. E. Chase, curator of the section, gave a biography of Moliere and commented on his influence on literature. She also read the criticism of Moliere by Brander Matthews, dean of dramatic literature in Columbia University. Mr. Matthews declares Moliere to be one of the three great masters of drama worthy to be set beside Sophocles and Shakespeare and pronounces Moliere's comedies more brilliant than those of Shakespeare.

Mrs. A. P. Findlay, in charge of the tickets for the section's evening of plays, reported that they are selling fast.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

DEVELOPING WATER VERDUGO CANYON

City Manager Urges Development Work in Cooperation With Other Owners

The remaining task before the city trustees in connection with the development and conservation of Glendale's water supply is development work in Verdugo Canyon. As this water is shared with other owners, the city controlling about 50 per cent, the Ross and Thom interests about 20 per cent, it will be necessary to secure some understanding with these owners in regard to an equitable division of the surface waters based on the average flow for a term of years and as to the participation of the various interests in the cost of the development work proposed and division of the water developed thereby.

This matter was brought to the attention of the trustees in a communication from the City Manager who said: "The city's proportion of the cost will approximate $100,000. It is essential that these works be installed at the earliest time possible, first, for the purpose of intercepting the waters before they reach the surface so as to maintain their natural purity. Second, the development of additional water for the foothill district within the city limits of Glendale at the entrance of Verdugo Canyon and on either side thereof. This includes a large area between the 640 and the 900 foot contours that cannot be served from the reservoir being constructed at the 720-foot elevation. This area may be served, however, by means of the proposed development works in Verdugo Canyon."

"Before the matter of financing the cost of these works is taken up, which will no doubt have to be by general bond issue, it is essential that an understanding be reached in regard to the division of the surface and underground flow of the Verdugo Canyon and as to whom shall pay the cost of such works and participate in the increased water supply developed thereby.

"To that end we would respectfully request authorization to enter into negotiations with the several parties in interest to the end that a mutual understanding be arrived at and a report of the same submitted at an early date to your board for consideration.

"We would further request that City Attorney Hartley Shaw be authorized to assist on behalf of the City in these negotiations.

"We would also respectfully recommend that Consulting Engineer H. B. Lynch be instructed to prepare plans and specifications for pipe lines, setting basins and other works necessary to convey the city's supply of gravity water from the main intake to the Verdugo Road reservoir, and that there be installed in connection therewith apparatus that will automatically measure the flow of water entering the reservoir and also that buildings and other apparatus necessary in connection with the sterilization of this water be included in such plans and specifications."

NINE MILLION MOTOR CARS

The department of agriculture, which has made a motor car census, reports that the number of gas-driven vehicles, passenger and commercial, registered in the continental United States last year was 9,211,295. This total is amazing. It is a million more than the estimate made last year by the automobile trade. It is seven times as great as the number of cars with which this country was credited in the first year of the great war.

The investment in these more than nine million cars must be eight billion dollars. The annual interest on the investment would be about half a billion; the depreciation, at 20 per cent, $1,600,000,000 a year. The cost of housing, operating and repairs must be figured in billions. A few years ago a prophet made bold to say that eventually the American people would spend as much to run automobiles as they spend to have railroads. "Eventually" seems to be now.

In contemplating a growth like this mere figures only numb. It is better to use them as a guide to the contemplation of a country so great that it can do such things and still live. The amount of labor diverted to automobile building; the drafts that have been made on nature for iron and oil; the making of new highways that have been needed since all America started to motor—these are the actual costs that have followed the success of the internal combustion engine.

The business man will wonder when the motor car field will reach the saturation point. But that is not an alarming question. If it should be assumed that saturation has about arrived and that 10,000,000 cars are the limit for this country, there would still be a great future for the industry. Replacing 10,000,000 cars would mean a steady demand for 2,000,000 cars annually, five years being the generally accepted life of a motor vehicle.

The pessimist will see waste in having a car for every 10 or 11 Americans. He will talk of joy riding, of unnecessary travel, of wild extravagance. But the optimist will think of comfortable travel, of joyous excursions to the country, of the swift convenience which the automobile has brought into the commercial world. Everyone who has a car thinks he needs it and Americans demand what they think they need.—New York Herald.
